AUSTRIAN ARMY CRUSHED BY THE RUSSIANS IN EIGHT-DAY BATTLE

Supplementing Victories at Lemberg and on Frontier, War Office Reports Other Success.

tured and 5,000 Austrians Left Dead on Field.

CAPITAL OF GALACIA HELD

DEFEAT IS MET IN PRUSSIA

Russians Admit Defeat by Germans While They Concentrated Attack on Austrians.

(By United Press.)
St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—Another sweeping success over the Austrians as reported today supplementing those of the victories at Lemberg and near the Russian Poland frontier. The war office announces that the Russian left wing, operating from its position on the Dneister, captured a supposedly impregnable Austrian position that was heavily garrisoned. The official statement announced that the Russians charged the Austrians position at the point of the bayonet and swept over the entrenchments completely routing the Austrian troops. Five thousand Austrians were left dead on the field. The Russians captured 32 big guns and more than 1,000 prisoners including the Austrian general in command.

BERLIN ADVANCE WILL BEGIN SOON

Russian Embassy in London Says
This is Next Move With Austrian Army Conquered.

BRITISH VICTORY REPORTED

(By United Press.)
London, Sept. 2.—The Russian embassy today declared that the general Russian advance on Berlin will begin very soon. They point out that with the Austrian army conquered and danger of a flank movement removed the advance on Berlin will begin. As a tribute to the British skill, it is admitted the German right wing includes the crack regiment of the German army, the real backbone of the kaiser's forces. These troops can not be replaced, and as it is now claimed that the German losses exceed the British at the ratio of from three to six to one the wisdom of keeping the British constantly on the firing line is apparent. The British cavalry is reported to have taken a number of cannon in a desperate charge against a German fortified position near Compiègne. It is also reported that in another charge the British captured several German officers of high rank who are of the general staff.

GERMANS SEE MANY VICTORIES

War Office Declares That Kaiser's Arms Meet With Success in Both
East and West.

PARIS ADVANCE CONTINUES

Statement Asserts Russian Invasion
in Checked and Advancing Columns Routed With Losses.

(By United Press.)
Berlin, (Via the Hague) Sept. 2.—Reports of continued successes in both the eastern and western theaters of war are made public by the war office today. The German advance against Paris continues without interruption, it is stated, and the stubborn resistance is being slowly but steadily overcome. But it is in the east the German arms have scored their most noteworthy success. The Russian invasion of eastern Prussia has been checked and the advancing columns routed with enormous losses. Thousands of prisoners have been taken including many Russian officers of high rank. The situation in the east is much improved through the arrival there of fresh troops. These have been secured without the general staff having to call upon the western forces for any men. The 500,000 members of the Landstrum who have been called to the colors have been distributed among the interior fortresses and to the supply depots. This action released a similar number of the active army and it is these troops who are now driving the Russians back upon their own frontier. The spirit of the army is excellent. The news of victory in the east has checked the fear of a Russian attack upon Berlin, which was a very real one for a few days following the arrival here of the refugees from eastern Prussia, who described the Russian advance as "spreading like an army of flies."

The reality of the war is now being brought home to everyone. The lists of the casualties are distressingly long and contain names of the members of the most distinguished families in all Germany. Hardly a family but has suffered, but there are no murmurs. All are reconciled to the price that must be paid if the German cause is to succeed. The Red Cross has undertaken the care of the refugees who have been compelled to flee from their homes in Eastern Prussia before the Cossack invasion. This latter work, coupled with the general relief of the wounded, has taxed the facilities of the Red Cross to the utmost but a call for volunteers brought so many responses from the German women, including some of the highest titles, that not only was the difficulty solved but many had to be put on a waiting list. The women of Germany are as active as the men who are at the front. While the government has made allowance to the families of every soldier at the front, this is considered inadequate and the various relief organizations have taken up the work of caring for all needy in a systematic manner. Meanwhile many wild rumors are being circulated by the refugees.

GERMANS IN 50 MILES OF PARIS

Even Under Such Conditions, French
Officials Believe Complete Siege
of Capital is Impossible.

ALLIES LINES UNBROKEN

Believed Kaiser's Men Can Not Surround Paris, the Best Fortified
City in the World.

GERMAN ADVANCE CONTINUES

French Left Wing Retires Before Invaders—French Success in Lorraine Reported.

(By United Press.)
Paris, Sept. 2.—There was an air of confidence in official circles today. Though the Germans are within fifty miles of Paris and though the German right is forcing steadily nearer, there is not a French staff officer who believes a complete siege of Paris is possible. This is because the allied lines have remained unbroken and because the Germans are showing evidence of complete exhaustion. It is believed impossible that the Germans can completely surround Paris. They will be facing the greatest fortifications in the world.

The masterly retreat of the allies, checking every attempt at flanking movement, attempts to penetrate the center, is declared to have all the morale effect of a sweeping victory. An official statement issued by the War office this afternoon admits that the retiring movement of the French left before the superior numbers of the Germans right wing continues. It is said however, that the Frenchers slowly advancing in Lorraine in the vicinity of the Vosges and that a general engagement is now in progress in the vicinity of the Meuse. The official statement says: "We are slowly advancing in the region of the Vosges in Lorraine where a regular siege of the entrenched German positions is in progress. For two days we have been slowly driving the Germans back."

"We suffered partial checks in the Neufchateau-Palaiseul district which obliged us to withdraw to the lines, near the Meuse where a general engagement began and now continues. "The British-French wing has been attacked by a greatly superior force in the Cateau-Cambrai district and in consequence it retired to the southward to prevent being overwhelmed or cut off. "Our forces drove the Prussian guard and the 10th German army corps back at Oise with heavy losses but because of the progress of the German right we were unable to follow up this advantage and were compelled to retire." The allied lines on the French left are engaged today along a line extending from Montdidier, a small station just off the main line from Boulogne to Paris in the department of Somme into the forest of Campiègne. The heaviest fighting is reported in the vicinity of Montdidier where the German infantry are in great strength. A large force of German skirmishers forming the advance guard of the movement toward Paris has been partly surrounded in the forest of Campiègne and is being subjected to a fierce bombardment by the French artillery. It developed today that General Paul Pau, who retrieved the situation in Lorraine is now in command of the French left wing co-operating with

CREAMERY IS NOT LOST YET

Schlossers Will Hold Conference Tomorrow and Probably Make Reply to Chamber of Commerce.

CONDITIONS NOT ALL MET

Rushville Can Not Satisfy Claims of Local Creamery—Schlossers
Have Good Proposition.

The Schlosser Brothers creamery is not lost to Rushville yet, but the prospects for locating it are not quite so bright because the Rushville creamery wants $7,500 for its property and one of the conditions of Schlosser Brothers is that the claims of the local creamery be satisfied before they agree to locate here. They refuse to enter where there is local competition. The board of directors of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce met last night and heard the report of the special committee appointed to deal with the Rushville creamery owners and to hear the proposal of Schlosser Brothers.

L. B. Smelser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, telephoned a member of Schlosser Brothers firm this morning and old of the situation here. It was stated at the meeting last night that $3,500 had been offered for the present location of the Rushville creamery when the creamery had been organized. Mr. Smelser informed the creamery man of this and Mr. Schlosser replied that placed a different aspect on the thing. He said that he would consult with other members of the firm in Indianapolis tomorrow and then would probably have some answer to make. The proposition of the Schlossers was that in addition to satisfying the claims of the Rushville creamery, that the Chamber of Commerce either arrange for the sale of $12,000 worth of six per cent. guaranteed preferred stock in the creamery or arrange to

WARDER H. WYATT ON WRECKED TRAIN

Rushville Man's Name Among List of Injured in Mishap on G. R. & I.
Near Kalamazoo

NO WORD IS RECEIVED HERE

Warder H. Wyatt, of this city, was among those injured yesterday in the wreck of the Northland Special, on the G. R. & I. railroad, three miles north of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Mr. Wyatt was enroute to Bay View, Mich. No word was received from Mr. Wyatt and it is not believed that he was injured seriously. A cloudburst sweeping over Michigan was responsible for the wreck. A culvert under the track had been washed out. The engine and baggage car remained on the rails, but the first Pullman went down an embankment, followed by three others. Sixteen were injured, but the fact that all of the cars were steel prevented serious injury to any. Most of the injured were able to continue on their way north on a special train. George C. Wyatt, father of Warder Wyatt, received a telegram this afternoon from his son stating that he was not hurt and that the reports concerning him were false.

GEN. TRABUE IS REAPPOINTED

Named Adjutant General on Staff
of Major General Loomis, New Uniform Rank Commander

SUCCEEDING A. J. STOBART

Appointment Given Local Man Because of Merit and His Acquaintance With Lodge

Samuel L. Trabue, well known attorney of this city, has again been honored by the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias and has accepted re-appointed as Adjutant General tendered by Major General Loomis, head of the Uniform Rank in the United States. The office is the second highest in the order and comes to General Trabue unsolicited. The advancement of General Trabue in the Uniform Rank has been rapid, and since becoming a member of Ivy Company No. 35 in the fall of 1904, he has taken an active part in this branch of Pythianism. At the close of the Terre Haute encampment recently General Trabue believed he would retire along with the staff of General Arthur J. Stobart, and was truly surprised to be offered the appointment by Major Loomis, who succeeded Major Stobart. In his letter to Mr. Trabue, Major

SAMUEL L. TRABUE.

Loomis stated that he was tendering him the place because of the merit shown and because of his acquaintance with conditions and affairs of the Uniform Rank. General Trabue accepted the appointment for another term of two years. The position of Adjutant General is the most important on the general staff and speaks well for General Trabue and the local company.

The climb of General Trabue has been rapid. He was first appointed guard, with the rank of sergeant, of the local company in January, 1905 by the late George Caldwell, who was then captain of Ivy Company, No. 35. His next appointment came from Col. C. A. Phelps in 1907 when he was made chaplain of the Third Regiment, of which the local company is a part. At the encampment in Milwaukee General Trabue became acquainted with Major Stobart and in the following year was appointed aide-de-camp, with the rank of colonel, of the staff of Major Stobart, then commanding the Uniform Rank in the United States. This was in 1911. He served in all of these positions with honor and on September 13, 1912 was appointed adjutant general with the rank of brigadier general by Major Stobart. It is to this position that he has been re-appointed. Major General Stobart declined to stand for re-election at the Su-

TO MAKE BUDGET THURSDAY NIGHT

City Council Will Meet Again Before
First Monday in September to Make Tax Levy.

BIG SESSION LAST NIGHT

Supt. Mahin Reports 600 Water Meters in Use and 300 More Yet to be Installed.

The city council held a busy session last night but even then did not complete the work of preparing the city budget for next year and will be compelled to meet again Thursday night. It is hoped to complete the appropriations at the special meeting Thursday night. Under the law the appropriations and tax levy must be made by the first Monday in September. Residents near the Park factory lost in their fight for a flagman at the Tenth street crossing of the Big Four and L. E. & W. railways when the council voted down the proposed ordinance. The matter has been hanging fire in the council ever since early spring and came to a close last night when the ordinance was introduced and then lost on the vote before it got a good start. It was introduced and then lost on the vote to adopt it. Councilman Brann and Lee voted for the ordinance and Councilmen Seudder, Wagoner and Sexton voted against the ordinance. In explaining his vote Councilman Seudder stated that he could see no reason for a flagman at this particular crossing because of the fact that sidewalks were to be built in Oliver street and that the school children certainly could walk down to Ninth street and cross the railways where there is a flagman. The others looked upon it as he did and there will be no flagman at Tenth street. Superintendent Mahin of the water and light plant made his regular monthly report to the council and it was ordered placed on file. The council on his advice renewed a contract for furnishing a year's supply of transformers to the Ft. Wayne Electrical company. Mr. Mahin reported to the council that the work of installing the meters was about completed. He stated that there were about 300 meters to be placed and that the city now had in use 600 meters. He stated that 478 of these had been installed this summer. Of the 300 meters yet to be in-

Everyone is Reading Newspapers

Printer's Ink says:

"The circulation of daily newspapers has increased 10 to 25 per cent since the beginning of the war scare. When press men are sleeping in the news rooms in order to be ready for emergencies, it indicates a pretty consuming interest on the part of the public." There never were such opportunities for advertisers as now. People's wants are none the less and none the less insistent because of the war. And on account of fluctuating prices they are going to shop with more care. There never were such opportunities for advertisers as now and the first place they are going to look for it is in the daily newspapers.

ART DISPLAYS AT INDIANA FAIR

Paintings, China, Needle Work, Embroideries, Craftsmanship.

MADE BY HOOSIER ARTISTS

Talented Women Will Display Their Skill in Many Lines—Notable Exhibit of Pictures in Oils, Water Colors
and Photography—Great Exposition of Decorated China.

The richest display of the handicraft work of Hoosier women that has ever been made is promised for the Indiana state fair the week of Sept. 7, including all lines of endeavor to which the home makers of this state turn their talented fingers. To make sure that the exhibit will go ahead of other years, there has been a general revision of the prize offerings in the women's department of the fair, some of the old classifications having been discarded and newer ones added, while there has been a general increase in the premium money. In two departments of the fair where Indiana women
most show their capabilities as home makers—the fine arts and culinary departments—the total awards offered are over $2,000.

The most notable change in the women's departments will be that of paintings and drawings, the total premiums of which reach $500, and which is expected to bring to the fair's art gallery the representative work of the best Hoosier artists. In other years anyone who could paint any kind of picture in oils or water colors could show their work at the fair, but at the next fair a new method will be followed, for each picture will have to be approved by a jury made up of artists who have exhibited work at the annual Indiana artists' exhibition at the John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis, and this jury, after a critical examination, will determine what pictures are worthy to go on exhibition at the fair.

No state fair or exposition in the country ranks with Indiana in its exhibition of decorated china. This exhibit at the next fair will show some notable improvements, for there has been a revision of the classes and an increase of prizes which will bring forth the best work that the professional and amateur painters have to offer. The total prizes on china will be over $550.

Because of a revision in the arts and crafts division and an increase of prizes there will be extraordinary qualities of stenciling, block printing,
hand-made jewelry, leather work, weaving, wood carving, pottery and other lines of craftsmanship shown.
The amateur photographers, who are always busy in Indiana, will again
have an extensive show, but their pictures must all be of this year's make.

The Fair is always rich in the needlework of Indiana women, especially in crochet and knitted work, handmade lace and embroideries, pillows
and other fancy work, and special specimens of hand sewing. A new division will be needle work done by women of sixty-five years or older,
and another will be for girls of fifteen years and under.

The culinary exposition will have fine displays of those kitchen products
for which Indiana women are nationally famous—breads, cakes, pastries, fruit products, relishes. There will be a distinctive class for the amateur culinary exhibitors and another for the professionals.

PLAYS PIANO-ACCORDION

Melodious Musical Feature to Be Given at Indiana State Fair.

The Indiana State Fair will, the week of Sept. 7, offer a musical feature that will not only be entirely new to thousands of fair visitors, but one that has never been heard on an American fair ground. This feature will be given by Amedeo, the pianoaccordionist, who holds first place
among the few masters of this extra-

Amedeo and His Piano-Accordion.

ordinary instrument. The accordion
he plays is many times larger, stronger in tone and more melodious than the old-time accordion which Hoosiers know. The instrument is almost as large as Amedeo, who carries it from his shoulders with a strap. It has four banks of keys, like a pipe organ, and as many stops as a piano has keys.
Amedeo will spend several hours each day of the fair wandering about the grounds playing tango dances, hesitation waltzes and other tuneful airs.

The British commander in chief, Sir
John French.

The French center is holding. This was the cheering news issued from the war office when it made its first announcement today. Coming on top of a similar announcement at midnight, it meant, the military experts
said, that the efforts of the Germans to break the allied armies in two and to surround the terribly harassed left has failed.

The allied army is intact, a potent,
effective fighting force that can continue to withdraw in the face of superior numbers and be held ready to assume the offensive when the German losses, and the necessity of replenishing their eastern armies to meet the Russians forces them to weaken their front in French soil.

This announcement overshadowed the admission that the line between the strong German right wing and Paris is gradually lessening. There is a general disposition everywhere
in official circles to accept the possibility of a siege of Paris with equanimity. It is declared that it cannot be effective. The very limits of the fortified zone would, of itself require far more soldiers than it is believed Germany can spare effectively to besiege the city. And, now that the supreme effort of the Germans to crumple up and demolish the allied army has failed, any siege of Paris will always be subject to flank attacks that in the end must prove disastrous.

The feeling in Paris today is far more optimistic than at any time during the last ten days. The anniversary of Sedan has passed and no great disaster has overwhelmed the French armies.

The battle line on the North today,
roughly speaking, was believed to follow a line running east and west about through the centre of the departments of Oise, Aisne and Ar-denne. The most desperate fighting is reported from Reims, in the department of Ardennes, where the Germans have thrown enormous fresh forces against the French lines.
The lines are holding fast, however.

Although it is admitted serious results might follow a raid by the German serial fleet Paris, there is no widespread alarm. The two aviators who have passed across the city have done practically no damage and if their intention was to throw the city into a panic, they have failed. The French aviators are preparing for a possible raid by Zeppeline and if one comes will go into the air and give them battle. But it is accepted that no German aviator, flying across the city at the great height they are forced to maintain to avoid the guns from the Eiffel tower and other high structures, can gain any information regarding conditions within the city not already known to Germany. As a matter of fact the chiefs of the war are certain the German spy system is in operation within the city and that every public move is promptly reported via secret channels to the German general staff.

Because of this the presence of the German aviators over Paris has been minimized everywhere and no attempt has been made to give them battle by the French aviators although such a development may be expected in the near future.

The cabinet held an extraordinary session yesterday at which the various questions of national defense were considered. In this connection the questions of the removal of the seat of government to another center was considered. No action was taken and none will be until it is an absolute certainty that the city is to be besieged.

It was explained by the members of the cabinet that every movement
so far made has been of precautionary nature. This is especially so in the razing of the old buildings outside of the Paris forts to give an uninterrupted sweep to the guns of the defense forts. The action taken was the wise one of being prepared for any development but it is known General Joffre told Minister of War
Miller and he did not believe the Germans would ever get within fifty miles of Paris.

The general in chief believes the force of the German assault is already beginning to show indications of being spent. The best of the German troops were concentrated on the French left flank in a desperate effort to crush completely the combined British-French armies. This they have failed to do. While the allies have given way under the force of overwhelming numbers they have retreated very slowly and their defense has been extremely stubborn,
with the result that the German losses have far outnumbered those of the allies. The war minister told his colleagues that both General Jeffre and Sir John French, the British commander in chief agreed that the German assaults were neither so desperate nor so long continued as they have been in the earlier engagements.

Following the cabinet meeting, M.
Louis Malvy, the minister of the interior, declared conditions were decidedly improved. He stated that in his opinion, Paris, must be ready for anything that might happen and that this was the real reason for all of the precautions that were being taken.

"We are making many sacrifices and may have to make more but France will win in the end," he said.
"The nation is passing through supreme crisis. We have everything prepared to encounter reverses as well as to win successes. But the spirit of the French people is unconquerable."

In order to facilitate the removal of all of the people who desire to abandon Paris the war offices has detailed for the use of the interior department fifty troop trains with a promise of twice that number tomorrow. There was an enormous crush at the railway stations today, requiring the use of all of the available police to control
the crowds and prevent any serious accidents. The government is encouraging every non-combatant voluntarily to leave the city so that,
should a siege actually come, the number who will have to be fed will be the actual minimum.

To prevent any advantage to German aviators who might attempt to fly over the city at night, the street lights will be extinguished. In addition the great searchlights on the Eiffel tower have been manned and will sweep the sky nightly so oncoming aeroplanes can be located.

Some of them declare that the Russians have threatened to loot Berlin and give it to the torch if they take the city. This latter threat was the subject for much ridicule in the editorial columns of the newspapers all of which point out, in reassuring
terms that so far the Russian advance has only invaded the unpro-

which place he was nominated last week without his consent by a hand

soldiers, taken prisoners, all agree that the orders issued by the emper-

said: "You will take Paris or all Germany will die in the attempt."

TO STOP COMPLAINTS.

London, Sept. 2.—In order if pos-made against the British system of

this will obviate the inequalities hitherto complained of.

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—Antwerp dis-

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair
when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark,
glossy hair can only be had by brewing
a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.
Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent
bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

AUSTRIAN ARMY CRUSHED
RUSSIANS IN 8-DAY BATTLE

mand. As a result of this success the Russian left is now co-operating with the center and the retreat of the Austrians is seriously menaced.

The Austrian army has been completely crushed. News from the front where the general battle has been in progress for eight days is not favorable to Russia.

Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Galicia is now held by the Russians. The Austrian center has been penetrated by a superior Russian force and the wings are now being crumpled back upon their outer lines.

Official dispatches from the Grand Duke Nicholas tell of a sweeping victory in the bloodiest battle of modern times. The Russian losses have been very large, it is admitted. But it is stated that they are far less than those sustained by Austria. Entire brigade of Austrians have been completely annihilated. Among their dead are some of their highest rank officers.

It is stated that, while the fighting continues and will probably continue for several more days, the situation is more favorable to the Russian arms. With Lemberg held by the Russians and Austrian center penetrated, the Austrians will have great difficulty withdrawing to new position and their ranks are so badly demoralized that it will be very difficult to reform them into any effective fighting force. The Russian offensive has been entered on the Austrian lines and enormous reinforcements have been hurried to fill the gaps in the first offense lines. Because of this, there has been a temporary halt to the proceedings in eastern Prussia. Positive denial is made, however, that any of the territory already gained has been abandoned.

Two distinct Russian armies are operating in Prussia. The first move from Kyno against Konigsburg, and Allenstein. The second is operating from Poland towards Thorn and Grandenz. While the German lines have stiffened and the force opposing the Russians has been greatly increased, it is still insisted in the reports from the front that it will be impossible to check the Russian advance when the orders are given to proceed. But until the Austrian resistance is completely crushed there will be no general assault on the entrenched German positions.

The general staff admitted today that two army corps, operating in Eastern Prussia, have been defeated by the Germans there. In the official report it is set forth as follows:

Two army corps, operating in Eastern Prussia, have been repulsed by a superior German force and have sustained severe losses. This, however, is unimportant because it has been from the very inception of this war the aim of the general staff to crush completely the Austrian power in order that the way will be cleared for a straight march on Berlin.

Exceptions to the final report of Morrison Beaver, guardian of Venus Lowden, have been filed by Venus Lowden Thompson, formerly Venus Lowden. It is alleged that the report is not correct in that some of the money is not properly credited. Venus Lowden married Frank Thompson on March 5, 1914 and at present lives in Chicago.

In the article yesterday in the Daily Republican regarding the collision between the auto driven by Rich Reed and the buggy in which was Mrs. Henry Miller, no attempt was made to place the blame, as the accident was unavoidable. At the time Mrs. Miller was on the wrong side of the street and if it was made to appear that Mr. Reed was responsible it was done so unintentionally.

England Aghast Over
Wiping Out of Louvain

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—England was aghast over the details of the destruction of Louvain. The complete wiping out of the entire city has greatly exercised all high government officials and, following a conference with Premier Asquith, the official press bureau issued a lengthy denunciation of the deed.

"The destruction of this ancient city was an unpardonable act of barbarism and vandalism," said the bureau. "It was a deliberate act in complete violation of the law of nations. It is indeed a crime for which there can be no atonement. The German contention that it was an act justified by war, and a proper reprisal because the inhabitants had fired on the German troops is utterly without warrant. It has already been plainly proven that when Louvain was surrendered to the Germans everyone gave up their arms. Even the civil guard was disbanded by order of the burgomeister. Now, for Germany to contend that these unarmed residents fired on German troops, is absolutely beyond credence."

The bureau then discussed at length of the contentions raised by the Germans and quotes the official statement issued by the Belgian legation last night, as proving conclusively that Germany was not in any way justified in its reprisal.

London—Sir Beerbohm Tree, England's great war manager, is serving as commander of a special squad of 40 volunteer policemen recruited from among London Thespians. They are on duty from midnight to 4 a. m.

Speeches will be made by Pat Lynch, Republican candidate for congress, and Will M. Sparks, Republican candidate for judge of the Rush circuit court.

Taking the Star's Number.

Robert Davidson, Democratic trustee of Adams township, Parke county, has called the hand of the Indianapolis Star. The Bull Moose politician of Parke county decided they would put across a master stroke and draft Mr. Davidson as their candidate for trustee. They dreamed of the headlines in The Star telling of Mr. Davidson's action and the number of other Democrats who would follow his suit in joining the Progressive party.

But Mr. Davidson, when he heard of the high-handed manner in which the politicians had used his name, wrote a letter to the Parke county Bull Moose chairman. He spoke plainly. He referred to the account in the Indianapolis Star, which started that Mr. Davidson was present when he was nominated and made a short talk. But Mr. Davidson, who ought to know, says he was not even at the meeting and knew nothing of the action of the politicians until informed by them that he had been nominated.

This further exemplifies the unreliability of the political news in the Indianapolis Star. If all of the purported facts the Indianapolis Star publishes about politics are as far from the truth as this instance, then they are not even half truths they are wholly false. So long as the Star maintains its present stand in politics, it can not tell the truth. But here is Mr. Davidson's letter:

"While appreciating the honor conferred upon me by your party in township convention on Thursday, August 27th, by unanimously nominating me to make the race for township trustee of Adams township, I feel it my duty as a democrat, to decline this nomination.

"I deplore very much the fact that such wide publicity has been given the matter by publication in the Terre Haute Star and Indianapolis Star of August 28th.

"The Star says that I made a short talk in the convention when in reality I was not present at all, and did not know of the action of the convention until a number of your party who were present called upon me and informed me that I had been nominated."

Shall We Have a Horse Show.

The season for Rushville's annual horse show is approaching. Shall we have one again this year? It all depends, of course, on whether or not we want it. There isn't any doubt about Rushville having a show incomparable with any held in Indiana. Rush county has already established reputation throughout Indiana as a horse center. There is ample basis for the reputation.

A horse show in Rushville will not be an experiment. It has been found to be one of the most popular projects ever attempted in the county. There are more lovers of good horseflesh to the square inch in this county than usual. The people delight in the show. Usually in the fall season the weather is favorable. Last year, however, the weather was not so good and conspired to make the show a failure.

But now with a Chamber of Commerce to stand behind the undertaking and the season auspicious, there is no reason why Rushville should not have a horse show which would attract more than countywide attention.

J. Hamilton Lewis Tells of Letter Wilson Wrote Speaking of War "Revolving Around Philippines"

CAUCUS WILL BE AVOIDED

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Disgruntled at the statement given out by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, Democratic whip, Saturday night, in explaining the necessity for the presence of Democratic senators at a caucus decided that if it is possible to avoid it no caucus will be held at all.

Senator Lewis said the president has written to administration senators saying that at any moment, word might come over the cable which would necessitate immediate action on the part of congress, especially in view of the General-Japanese war "revolving around the Philippines."

Many senators have been annoyed by the statement.

A Convincing Story in Figures by L. W. Henley

IN INDIANA

The 1914 primary voting in the six largest counties in Indiana, containing the cities of Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Gary, Terre Haute and Evansville, indicate how the Progressive party has gone to pieces in this State. Comparison between the Progressive vote in 1912 and the Progressive primary vote of 1914 follows:

	1912 Vote.	1914 Primary.
Allen	4,519	164
Vanderburgh	2,880	171
Lake	5,659	660
St. Joseph	5,180	800
Vigo	5,172	350
Marion	20,271	1,700

Total..... 43,681 3,845

Recently the Cincinnati Enquirer (Democratic) said: "Perhaps the clearest indication of what may happen at the next election is given by the recent primaries at Gary and Indiana Harbor, Ind., great industrial centers. The Progressives carried both of these steel towns in 1912. By reason of the mills being forced to close down or operate only part time, thousands of men have been laid off. These cities may be taken as typical industrial centers. In the recent primary the Republicans received 90 per cent. of the vote in Gary, the Democrats 7 per cent., and the Progressives 3 per cent. In Indiana Harbor the Republicans received 92 per cent. of the vote, the Democrats 6 per cent. and the Progressives 2 per cent."

Indiana has no state-wide primary law, but an optional county primary law is in operation. The result in the Indiana counties that have held primaries this year is in keeping with the general trend, showing remarkable Republican gains and corresponding Democratic and Progressive losses. The Lake County primary is typical. The figures follow:

	1912 Election	1914 Primary	Loss, Gain
Democrat	5,136	2,260	56.
Progressive	5,659	660	88.4
Republican	5,176	6,600	27

The Republican vote in the 1914 primary in Warren, Henry and Randolph, all of which were lost to the Republicans in 1912, was sufficiently large to return these counties to the G. O. P. column this year. The Republican 1914 primary vote in Lawrence County was 300 larger than the Republican vote in the primary in that county in 1912, held long before open division developed in the Republican ranks.

	1912 Election.	1914 Election.
Republicans	3,220	3,250
Democrats	4,454	2,163
Progressives	4,881	819

The Republican party was the only one to show a gain in the 1914 special election over the presidential vote of 1912. The Democratic vote showed a loss of 51.5 per cent. and the Progressive loss amounted to 83.2 per cent.

What do these official figures show? They show that a reunited Republican party is marching straight down the road, in State and Nation, to certain victory. They show unmistakably the trend of political drift, and every political observer knows that it is just as impossible to stop a political drift when it once sets in in earnest as it is to stop the tide of the sea. If election or primary returns in one State or one district had shown startling Democratic and Bull Moose losses and corresponding Republican gains it could have been set down as an accident, but when the returns from every election, primary or registration, held since the presidential election in 1912 make the same revelation there is but one conclusion, and that is that the voters of Indiana and the Nation have made up their minds to return the party of protection for American homes and American industries to power just as quickly as they can.

"If you have had enough of the workings of a Democratic tariff bill and are disgusted with the reckless and disgraceful conduct of the affairs of the State of Indiana, DO NOT FAIL TO REGISTER IN ORDER THAT YOU MAY VOTE ON NOVEMBER 2."

would attend to that.
Every since the proposition has been in the hands of the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Smelser has been making diligent inquiry in regard to their financial standing. Answers, without exception, have been that the financial condition of the company is excellent. One bank with which Schlossers do business stated that it held $6,500 worth of the guaranteed six per cent. preferred stock in the concern.

It was felt by the Chamber of Commerce that, in view of the excellent rating of the concern, that there would be much more acceptable and easier to fill than disposing of $12,000 in stock.

In their proposition, providing local demands were met, Schlossers Brothers agreed to erect by May 1 a plant valued at $30,000 and employ twenty persons to begin with. In the course of three or four years, it was promised, during which time the local plant would be getting on its feet, the plant would be increased to a $50,000 establishment and the force doubled. To begin with, the plant would have a weekly output of 50,000 pounds of butter.

Schlosser Brothers started a creamery on a small scale at Bremen, Ind., many years ago. They had no capital, but they persisted and finally succeeded in the same field where others failed. The creamery business with them now is not an experiment. They have plants at Plymouth, Frankfort and Bremen and want to start a fourth as soon as possible.

Furthermore, if a creamery were built here, Schlossers would place an expert out in the county who would spend all his time among the farmers. He would teach farmers how to care for dairy cattle and show them how to handle dairy products.

The common stock in the Schlosser Brothers concern is kept in the family. Four brothers and three nephews are interested in the company.

The Rushville creamery asserts it can not afford to sell for less than $7,500. The officers say they have more than that invested and that they are now bringing the concern to paying basis.

float a loan of $12,000 in Rushville banks. This proposition, it will be seen, did not carry with it the demand that a site be purchased. Schlossers preme assembly recently held in Terre Haute and William Loomis of Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected to succeed him. General Trabue's record while a member of the staff of Major Stobbs prompted Major Loomis to offer him the place again. The general headquarters have been changed from St. Paul to Grand Rapids. General Trabue's appointment holds until the next biennial encampment of the order which will be held in Nashville, Tenn.

Ivy Company No. 35, of which General Trabue was one of the first members, has always been aggressive and he attributes his success largely to the standing of the local company. The company was mustered in 1904 and within less than six months took first prize in Class "C" at the biennial encampment at Louisville, Ky., with Capt. Caldwell in command. The company came right back and captured the prize at the state encampment held in Indianapolis in 1907. The experience of General Trabue should prove valuable to the new commander-in-chief of the Uniform Rank and the local company is more than pleased that Major Loomis saw fit to reappoint General Trabue.

ROYAL FAMILY TAKES BIG PART

Although not Claiming to be "War Lord" King George of England is Actively Engaged

FOLLOWS EVERY MOVEMENT

Being an Experienced Sailor, the King is Able to Assist Materially in Naval Plans

BY ED L. KEEN

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Sept. 1.—(By mail to New York)—Although not claiming to be "war lords" King George and the male members of the Royal family are taking their parts in England's greatest war. With the aid of elaborate maps kept under lock and key in his private office, the king is following every movement of his fleets and armies. He is kept constantly informed of the latest movements by the war office and admiralty and has the exact position of every ship and battalion marked on his maps.

Being an experienced sailor himself, the king is able to enter fully into the plans of the naval war staff and Winston Churchill has had many practical suggestions from him. In this matter no cry of "royal interference" is likely to be raised and it is an open secret that Britain's naval campaign has been planned quite as much at Buckingham Palace as at the admiralty.

The Prince of Wales has been fretting over being kept from the service while the name of his younger brother, Prince Albert appears in the roster of the dreadnought Collingwood. The Prince of Wales claimed his right to join a ship by virtue of his rank as a lieutenant but the admiralty flatly refused to risk the life of the heir to the throne in a modern dreadnought battle, and it was to pacify him that King George made him a lieutenant in the Grenadier guards. The guards could have done well without the honor of his company; at least the battalion to which he is attached feels that way for there is little or no chance of them seeing active service while he is with them.

Prince Arthur of Connaught is major in the famous Scots Greys (second dragoons) and is with his regiment.

The Duke of Teck, Queen Mary's brother as lieutenant-colonel of the First Life Guards, has doffed his gala day cuirass with his men for the service kit. So far only a portion of the household cavalry has gone to the front and as each regimental colonel claimed the honor of commanding the composite regiment, the Duke had to restrain his martial ardor for a while, but he insisted on having a staff appointment.

Prince Alexander of Teck, his younger brother, the governor-general designate of Canada, who is a major in the Second Life Guards, also demanded to be sent to the front, but senior majors were preferred. The colonial office pointed out that he ought to hold himself in readiness to go to Canada, but it is understood at this writing that he has been given permission to join his regiment.

One member of the royal family who is absolutely inconsolable is Prince Henry, schoolboy third son of King George. Seeing him viciously kicking cushions around his room at Buckingham Palace a young staff officer queried respectfully: "Feeling bad, sir?"

Almost in tears the prince answered: "You'd feel bad in my place. Albert's in it and 'Davie' (the prince of Wales) will be going soon, and I can't go and fight. I'm expected to do something for the soldiers and sailors and I've know what that something is? Knitting! How would you like to knit for a couple of hours a day?"

Queen Mary has all the "unemployed" members of the royal household knitting socks and sewing for the soldiers and sailors.

Wilbur Jones has purchased a farm near Gings of Enoch Hood.

ARE RECEIVED BY KING

High Commissioners to Protest German Atrocities in England

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—The high Commissioners named by Belgian to proceed to England and then to the United States to protest against the alleged atrocities of the Germans in Belgium were received by King George at Buckingham Palace Tuesday. The king expressed his sympathy with the object of their visit, and hopes that their publication to the world of the suffering of Belgium at the hands of the Germans would result in a universal protest against the inhuman methods put into force by the Kaiser's troops. Afterward the commissioners were received by Sir Edward Grey in the foreign office.

MUTINIED AND KILLED OFFICERS

Polish Soldiers Serving Against Allies on Western Frontier Act After Czar's Proclamation

SLAVS ALSO ARE DISSATISFIED

(By United Press.)

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—Polish soldiers of the sixth Breslau corps serving against the allies on the western frontier have mutinied and killed their officers. Despatches from the front telling of the outbreak have caused the utmost satisfaction in official circles, following the proclamation issued by the czar to the poles shortly after hostilities began.

Disaffection has also broken out among the Slav regiments in the Austrian army, according to advices here. It is reported that one entire regiment deserted its colors and joined the Russians.

ARMY CHANGE EFFECTIVE

Officers Must Serve Two Years With Commands.

(By United Press.)

Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Sept. 1.—Under the Manchu act Col. W. P. Burnham, commanding the Army Service Schools, was relieved today by Col. H. A. Greene, unattached, stationed at the Central Department at Chicago. Under the same act Col. H. J. Sloeum, commandant of the United States military prison was relieved by Col. George A. Dodd, stationed at the recruit depot of Columbus Barracks, Ohio. The Manchu act provides that officers must serve at least two years of every six years with their commands.

Mrs. Ernest Jones of near New Salem, who has been seriously ill, is improving slowly.

Oxford and Cambridge Turned Into Hospitals For Wounded Soldiers; All England a Hospital.

Photos by American Press Association.

England is preparing to become one great hospital. Plans are being perfected for adapting school buildings and other large structures to the uses of war. Two of the largest hospitals will be at Oxford and Cambridge. The two great English universities have been taken over for hospital purposes. All of the students who were in residence have been dismissed, and the educational work of both institutions seems likely to remain at a standstill for some time. The great examination hall at Oxford has been transformed into a gigantic operating room, and the other college buildings will be used to house the wounded. The smaller universities and many of the big public schools have undergone similar transformations. All over the country the completion of the hospital arrangements is being pushed. In many of the smaller towns and villages where hospitals have been established beds have been obtained by calling for one bed from each house in the town. In this manner enough beds have been obtained to fill the public buildings taken over for hospital purposes. One picture shows the senate house at Cambridge, which will be used probably as an operating room. The other picture shows a wounded English soldier on a stretcher.

WAR INTERFERES WITH CONGRESS

European Conflict Has Almost Acted as Total Eclipse to Proceedings of Our Government

SYMPATHIES NOT EXPRESSED

Is Expected to Act as Stimulant to Trade Between This Country and South America

BY BURTON K. STANDISH

(Written for United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—The war in Europe has acted as almost a total eclipse on the proceeding of Congress and our own affairs of government. Members themselves have almost forgotten about proceedings. They have lost much of their desire for debate, and are not showing their usual interest in politics in the face of what they regard the greatest crisis in the world's history.

The Mexican trouble, the five percent advance rate case, the coming fall campaign, trust legislation, the Columbian and Nicaraguan treaties and the Federal Reserve board have been discarded as subjects for argument while members discuss the latest war bulletins. They gather in cloak rooms and corridors to eagerly devour information that reaches them.

Sympathies of Congressmen and Senators are divided between the various nations but all of them are refraining from open expressions because of their desire carefully to preserve the neutrality of the United States.

The prolonged sessions of Congress broke up the plans of many members to go abroad this year. Now most of them are glad that there was legislation to keep them at home. Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Senator Fletcher, of Florida were the only senators abroad when the trouble began.

The war has compelled many foreign diplomats in Washington, long close friends, to give each other the "cold shoulder" and frozen stares as they meet now. They are not supposed to have even the slightest relations and according to their rules must meet as absolute strangers. Social ties formed during long residence in Washington must be entirely broken off between the diplomats of the warring nations.

Many diplomats are forced to meet in the diplomatic ante-room when they call to confer with Secretary of State Bryan but they never recognize each other no matter how friendly their relations may have been before the war. During the Russo-Japanese war the ambassadors of Russia and Japan had way of bowing to each other in a prefatory way if they met. They never exchanged a word.

The European war will act as strong stimulant to the trade between United States and South America, it is being predicted. It will give this country a chance to build up a permanent commerce with Latin-American countries which will continue even after peace is restored abroad, experts declare.

Business was practically paralyzed in South American countries after the declaration of war but it is gradually adjusting itself to the new conditions, Latin-American diplomats in Washington say.

The Bureau of Engraving is turning out money literally "in bales" these days to meet the crisis in financial affairs brought on by the European war. Doubleshifts were instituted and employees were recalled from vacations to meet the demand.

Money has been printed at the rate of $100,000,000 a week. The new machines, representing the last word in engraving, turn out 10,000,000 bills a day compared with the old presses which had a capacity about 1,000,000 bills.

"I really forget whether England has notified us of a declaration of war," said Secretary of State Bryan the other day. "These war declarations are coming so fast that it reminds me of this story:

"A young lady went to her attorneys to instruct them to bring suit for breach of promise. The attorneys proceeded to draw up the papers. 'What is the gentleman's name?' they inquired. 'Well, really I forget,' said the young lady. 'You know there have been so many of these traveling men along lately.'

The war department is going to watch every movement of the armies of Europe closely. Secretary of War Garrison has arranged to have a big map of Europe hung above his desk at the War Department. An officer has been detailed to mark the movements of each army each day or as often as the department gets accurate information.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Under the auspices of the American Anti-Tuberculosis Association, a national "consumptive census" was begun today through all American churches. Church ministers will report the number of tubercular deaths and cases in their charges for submission to the fifth anti-tuberculosis congress November 29.

ALLIES BACKED AGAINST FORTS

Besides Delivering Frontal Attack, Germans Are Engaged in Two Flanking Movements

WOULD BOTTLE UP ALLIES

Russia's Advance Through Prussia Not Progressing as Fast as Early Indications Suggested

(By United Press.)

New York, Sept. 2.—With Paris as the center and with a diameter of eighty miles, draw an arc of a circle to the northeast, forty-five miles from tip to tip. This arc embraces the line of fortresses La Fere-Laon-Rheims, against which the allies now have their backs, trying to stem the German rush to the Seine.

About twenty-five miles further northeast, in the general direction of Liege, draw another arc, sixty miles from tip to tip. This arc, passing through St. Quentin, Vervins and Rethel marks the German frontal line forcing the French fortifications.

Besides delivering this frontal attack, the Germans are engaged in two flanking movements. One army extends to the east from St. Quentin passing through Peronne, to Amiens. Another which has crossed the Meuse river from Longwy, through the Stenway Gap, is advancing from the east toward Rethel.

The purpose of these three movements—two flanking and one frontal—undoubtedly is to bottle up the allies in the La Fere-Laon-Rheims fortress, after which the German army could proceed to Paris without serious interference.

This attempt to duplicate Sedan and Metz, which, if successful, would probably mean a decisive German victory in France, has been the constant aim of the German strategists. Liege, at Namur, at Nannege and at Lille, the allies avoided the Kaiser's desire to entice them into their own fortresses and surround them. They retreated, keeping their field armies intact in the open.

Their position now, however, is more dangerous than in the past for there are no further fortified lines on which to retire. This fact may hold them at the La Fere-Laon-Rheims line too long. If the German right and left break through and get between the allied forces and Paris, the peril will be imminent. The allies have evaded these encircling traps hitherto by desperate fighting and skillful retreats. They are now backing into the most alarming one of all. Time, however, is working for them. It seems impossible the Germans can continue much longer to deliver their terrific massed attacks without rest. There are limits to human endurance.

Russia's advance through East Prussia is not progressing as rapidly as early indications suggested. For more than a week, the fighting has been proceeding about the lake and marshy district of Allenstein. The Germans are giving way slowly, but apparently are fighting as tenacious a defensive battle as the allies are in France. Osterode, fifty miles east of the Vistula, appears to mark the German front. The field fighting has not indicated Russia will have an easy time crossing the Vistula.

AVERAGE RAT HAS FOUR FLEAS

But They are Not Kind Carrying Bubonic Plague, According to Health Board Official

MORE THIS YEAR THAN USUAL

Official Catcher Gets 75 in Two Weeks—Believes There is no Danger in Indiana

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—The average Indianapolis rat has four fleas. This statement is vouched for by Dr. V. Shimer, director of the bacteriological laboratory of the state board of health, and he ventures the statement that this sad condition of affairs exists, more or less, where ever rats are found in Indiana.

Rats are more numerous this year—this despite the efforts of Representative Ratts and his rat law and the agitation of chart manufacturers who would cause all township trustee to purchase rat charts under penalty of fines in justice-of-the-peace courts.

The above facts were learned by Dr. Shimer in connection with the rat survey of Indiana are exclusively the Pulex Cheopis, or Indian rat flea. This is known as the typical plague flea, or the species most apt to carry the bubonic plague, which plague by the way, was the direct cause of the rat survey.

The plague is found in New Orleans, and the state board of health though it would be a good thing to determine whether any rats or fleas in Indianapolis carry it. So far, no signs of the plague have been found, though the vehicles are here in great numbers. Later a bulletin will be issued by the board, giving officially the facts learned by the survey. The board's idea is to prepare in advance so that if any city or town in Indiana reports a case of the bubonic plague, it can rush to that locality the needed information and can be efficient in preventing the spread of the plague to other localities.

Shimer has been reading upon rats and he says it would take a reasonably fast freight to bring a rat and its quota of fleas here from New Orleans. In fact, there isn't any pressing danger that Indiana will be infested soon with the bubonic plague if it must come by the rat-flea-freight-New Orleans route. If so, the car would not necessarily be fast, and the rat would probably die enroute. It is a one-day passenger trip to New Orleans. The rat might come by two routes. Either by way of Effingham, Ill., or Louisville, Ky.

Rats are essential to the spread of the bubonic plague and they also are essential to the existence of the Pulex Cheopis species of fleas, says, Shimer. The reason is that female eggs of the mother flea will not hatch if the flea has fed upon human blood. Rat blood is essential.

About seventy-five rats have been captured in two weeks by Official Rat Catcher Shropshire. On them have been found about 370 fleas. Shropshire says that everyone is complaining that there are more rats than usual this year. He sets his traps according to a preconceived plan, winning his prize from the basements of saloons, restaurants, feed stores, sewers, department stores, etc. In all these places the brown rat has been found with his friends the Pulex Cheopis. Shropshire uses about twenty traps, and he likes his job.

LAUGH AT INSPECTOR

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—When a group of Indianapolis boys living in North New Jersey street read today of the achievement of Shropshire, official rat catcher for the state board of health, in catching 75 rats in two weeks, they gave him a "merry Ha Ha." These boys, headed by "Bruder" Frenzel, 15, and Wilson Mothershead, 9, captured 121 rats in a little more than a week's time, and cleared their neighborhood of the pests for the time.

The boys make no report on the number of fleas on the rats. They paid scant attention to these insects that are said to carry the bubonic plague, and so their achievements will never go down in the annals of science.

Their method of killing the rats made up in fun for what it lacked in novelty. They took their traps to the middle of tennis court, and there released the rats one by one. A dog famous in that neighborhood for his killing qualifications, did the rest. Little Toby, the Frenzel dog, about twelve inches long, covered himself with glory by killink two of the rats unaided before they reached the tall grass and comparative safety.

TO MAKE BUDGET THURSDAY NIGHT

stalled many have not yet made the necessary deposits and unless they do so will be turned off.

Numerous complaints have reached the street committee on the poor drain at the city hitch rack. It was stated that water stands there for hours following a rain. The matter was left with the street alley committee with power to act. The street committee will also purchase some stone and gravel for street repairs.

Councilman Wagoner brought up the old question of opening Willow street from the Pennsylvania railway to Eleventh street. He stated that several residents of this section had approached him and wanted to know why this council did not take the matter up where the former council had left off. The question when turned over to this council was as far along as assessing the benefits and damage. The council will investigate and take action at the next meeting. The street will either be put through or dropped for all time as far as this council is concerned.

Stewart and Tompkins tapped the sewer in North Main street without permission, according to word reaching the council, and so far have failed to pay the usual assessment. The council decided not to play along with them and ordered the street commissioner to disconnect the sewer at the corner of Twelfth and Main streets.

Ben A. Cox, Herbert Flint, Al Williamson, Cary Jackson and Lon Kennedy, representing the property owners in North Perkins streets, from Eleventh to Thirteenth street, appeared before the council to protest against the building of a macadam roadway. Early this summer the property owners in this street petitioned for the right to construct a cement street but the council ordered the engineers to draw up plans for a macadam roadway. The property owners stated to the council that they knew what kind of a street they wanted and demanded a concrete roadway. The plans for macadam were adopted but it is likely that a remonstrance will be filed against this kind of a street when the time arrives.

The improvement resolution for sidewalks in West Eighth street from Arthur street to the corporation line was passed as was the resolution for sidewalks in North Oliver street from Ninth street to Eleventh street. The council will hear remonstrators and receive bids for the construction of the walks on September 22.

Last night was the time set for hearing remonstrances on the assessment role of the South Perkins paving and East First street paving. There was none against First street, but Wade Sherman protested against his assessment in South Perkins street. Samuel L. Trabue appeared for Mr. Sherman. It was alleged that the property directly back of Mr. Sherman's was benefited to some extent and that it was not right for the council to charge Sherman with all the benefits derived to his frontage of 115 feet and depth of 82½ feet. According to the law the council has the right to take in territory as being benefited for a distance of 150 feet and it was on this ground that the remonstrance was filed. The council deferred action until Thursday night and in the meantime will look over the ground.

IN MEMORY OF Mary Emmaline Wilson.

O change; O wonderful change; Burst are the prison bars; This moment there—so slow In mortal prayer—and now, Beyond the stars. O change; Stupendous change; Here lies the senseless clod, The soul from bondage breaks, The new immortal wakes— And walks with God.

The long watches of the night are over, and she is gone; gone from her earthly home and those who love her; gone to live with the dear ones over yonder; and with the angels.

Mary Emmaline was the second daughter of Manlove and Phoebe Wheeler, born Nov. 15, 1845 in Guilford county, North Carolina. Her parents came to Henry county in 1866 after the war and lived in the Old Union neighborhood for several years. Later they moved to Greensboro where in the happy spring time of her life, in the year of 1876 she was married to Joseph H. Wilson and to them was born one son Fred L. Wilson now of Rushville, Indiana.

She was a birthright member of the Friends and that she was a Christian woman no one who knew her has any doubt. She has always from her early life shown those tendencies indicating a Christian character. We do not know what she might have made of her life in a religious and influential way, if she had been blessed with health these long thirty years of invalidity but we do not believe it could have been more blessed, not so far reaching than it has been. If a stranger would enter her home they would go out of her presence ever remembering her as a friend and to all who live or ever have lived near her in her affliction will miss her. She has listened to all our joys and our sorrows; she rested her hand on the head of every little child and gave her blessing; though almost half of her life has been spent in one small room, her influence and blessings have reached far and wide.

She leaves a husband and sister who have cared for her every want with a love that is stronger than life. Of their tender care we can only speak in reverence. Words are too weak to measure their love and tenderness. How her beloved son will miss her only they who have been bereft of a loving mother can know and his children will tenderly cherish forever the memory of their dear Grandma Wilson.

About 11 o'clock August 24, 1914 the Great Spirit beckoned her to come and she went quietly and peacefully over the line to meet her Savior whom she had so long adored and left to mourn their loss a husband, a sister, Mrs. Joseph Harvey, her son, Fred, and his family of whom she was so proud. But we do not wish her back she is safe in Glory. She is rich in the mansion she builded here on earth and has come into her own which is promised to all by our Heavenly Father.

She was 68 years 9 months and 9 days of age 147t1.

CARDINAL MAFFI HAS FOLLOWING

Early Balloting For Pope Indicate He Has Many Admirers—Effort to Elect Merry Del Val.

GETS COMPLIMENTARY VOTE

(By United Press.)

Rome Sept. 2.—The cardinals of the sacred college today resumed their balloting in the conclave called for the purpose of electing a successor to his holiness, Pope Pius X. The early voting has demonstrated that Cardinal Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa, has a strong following. The ballots cast today and tomorrow, it is expected, may indicate more clearly the strength of Cardinal Merry Del Val secretary of state under Pope Pius.

It is generally conceded that many of the ballots cast for him yesterday were complimentary in recognition of his services to the late pontiff, but his friends plan a concerted effort toward his election with the arrival here of Cardinal O'Connell one of Merry Del Val's most ardent supporters.

LIGHTNING PLAYS HAVOC IN THE CITY

Strike Pole Near W. M. Pearce's Residence and Then Enters House, Tearing Phone Out.

18 PHONES ARE DAMAGED

During the storm that passed over this city early this morning lightning struck a tree in the yard at the home of W. M. Pearce, corner of Fourth and Jackson street, and resulted in considerable damage. The lightning jumped to the telephone wire leading into the Pearce home and traveled to a pole in the alley back of the Winston residence. The pole as set on fire and eighteen telephones were put out of commission.

The bolt of lightning hit with great force and shattered five windows on the east side of the Pearce home besides knocking the telephone from the wall and cleaning the dining room walls of the plastering. Windows were also broken in the Merrill residence, adjoining the Pearce home on the east. The lightning also burned out the fuse at the water and light plant on the street circuit and the city was in darkness.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose application are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

According to this it would seem that a medicine for the kidneys, possessing real healing and curative properties, would be a blessing to thousands. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the well known kidney, liver and bladder remedy, claim that judging from evidence received from druggists everywhere, who are constantly in touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is remarkably successful in sickness caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of recoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed in most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co. advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Rushville Daily Republican.

and we know right in the beginning that we are in a position to furnish you with a Storm Buggy with more up-to-date features, better quality and less price than any dealer in this section of the globe. We really have buggies with doors that won't rattle, and many other new features not found elsewhere. Don't make the mistake the old man did when he started to lead the two calves to pasture. You know how that was? He was leading the calves and when he came to a gate that was hard to open he tied a calf to each boot strap and when he opened the gate the calves ran away with the old man and dragged him at a fast pace over the rough ground. His wife finally reached his side and released him and upbraided him for a fool and asked him if he didn't know better than to tie calves to his boots. "Yes, Ann," he replied, "I didn't get more than four rods until I discovered my mistake." That is the way with some people buying buggies. They find out their mistake too late to do them any good and it is their own fault, because it costs you nothing to look at our buggies and all we want is a chance to show you. We know you will buy them if you look them over. Will you do it? Our advice is do it now.
